

Making the unconventional CONVENTIONAL.

A decade ago, Pinnacle engineers introduced “waterfracs” in the Cotton Valley of East Texas. Since then, waterfracs have waltzed across Texas and the world. The results have been astounding but nowhere more impacting than the Barnett and other ultra-low permeability shale reservoirs.

Today, our fracture mapping services provide keys to success in reservoirs such as the Barnett, Marcellus, Montney, Horn River, Woodford, Devonian, Wolfcamp, Bakken, Fayetteville, New Albany, Caney, Floyd, Neal, Bend, Pearsall and others, where Pinnacle performs more mapping projects than all others combined.
